Annual Membership Drive Will Be Formally Launched On

Sunday, Jan. 18 at 4 p. m., after an inspirational talk to be given by Richard E. Rentz of the New Castle News. the Shenango Street Branch YMCA will have officially begun its 1948 membership drive. The drive, led by Harry Carter, will last until Feb. 1. The membership committee of the Branch, under the head of Jerome Cooper, has prepared prospect cards for the workers in such a manner that they can work in their individual neighborhoods. Invitations have been sent to the complete membership of the Branch to attend the meeting Sunday, and it is the hope of the membership committee that many of the members renew their memberships at this meeting, which would eliminate a great deal of soliciting.

Junior members are also organized into teams. Team captains will be appointed by the teams at the meeting. Division heads have been selected and will be announced at the meeting also. The membership committee does not believe that it will be necessary for the drive to last the full two weeks. They believe that the people of New Castle have seen the good that has been brought about by the Branch and its programs, and are sure that they will rally to its support. The public is invited to the meeting Sunday.

Sewage from other millions is only partly treated and industrial sewage equal to that of another 35,000,000 persons comes from uncontrolled industrial wastes, the governor said.

The governor quoted from an issue of the American Waterworks Association Journal in which an executive of the Wheeling, W. Va., waterworks declared; "The Ohio River at Wheeling is not water but diluted sewage, loaded with organic and industrial waste. The Ohio river is now nothing more than an open drain-age ditch. More than a million people empty their waste products into it daily (above Wheeling) and a few mile downstream other peo-ple drink it."

Duff added that it would be a mistake to take for granted that the Ohio river is more badly pol-luted than a number of other im-portant sources of water supply in the nation.

He pointed out that mine and mineral wastes also present a hazard disclosing that 2,190 tons of acid are discharged daily into the Ohio river watershed in Pennsylvania.

Of this total, only 44 tons were established to come from metallurgical plants, he said. The remaining daily output of 2,146 tons being acid mine drainage.

along with their legislative seats. Sen. W. J. Lane (D), Washington, refused to relinquish his place in the upper chamber upon swearing in as county commissioner.

Acting Speaker of the House Herbert P. Sorg sought an opinion to clarify the house members' status prior to the April 27 primary election.

To Fix Election He expects of fix a special elec-tion on the primary date to fill house vacancies. Two vacancies exist now in addition to Bentzel's post as a result of the resignation of former Speaker Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, elected to congress from the Lehigh-Bucks district, and the death of Rep. Thomas P.

and the death of Rep. Thomas P. Mooney (D), Allegheny.

There are two openings in the senate caused by the resignations of former Sens. William S. Rahauser (D), Allegheny, elected district attorney, and Carlton T. Woodring (D), Northampton, elected common pleas judge. The legality of Lane's dual job-holding is uncontested. In the early 1920s is uncontested. In the early 1920s Sen. William D. S. Edward Hannestad, director of the reference bureau, claims the chief reference to the question of double duty is found in the state constitution which states that "no senator or representative shall, during the time for which he shall have been elected, be appointed to any civil office under this common-wealth."

The drafters failed to define "any civil office under this commonwealth" and the General Assembly, empowered to do so, listed only the two local posts as incom-

Only a few court rulings have thrown light on the problem. They held that (1) the office of poor district director conflicts with that of state senator, (2) a county school superintendship c on flicts with state legislating, (3) a county con-

"Both offices would appear to be local posts," Hannestad said. "It Miss Audrie Crombie, captain; Miss Agnes Cartwright, Miss Eleanor Leckfor, Miss Shirley March, Miss Mary Shuttleworth, and Miss Lyda Betty Steinbrink.

To Appear For Britain The next major development in the commission will be the second appearance before it of Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan with the answers to the questionnaire as received from his government. The commission has sat behind closed doors except for the opening day, but in general it has become known that the questionnaire as drafted dealt roughly with three main categories. These are:

1. The problem of immigration in the transition period. In that connection, Moshe Shertok of the Jewish agency asked the commission that the port of Tel-Aviv be evacuated by the British by Feb. 1. Under the partition plan, Britain has to yield a port by that date to permit substantial Jewish immigration into Palestine.

2. The question of security. The adamant stand of the British government against helping to implement partition has drawn much fire and the question of enforcing law and order after the mandate terminates is uppermost in the minds of the commission.

3. The question of assuming administrative responsibility in the Holy Land as Britain withdraws is of major concern to the co

The time for talking about better hospital facilities for New Castle is gone. The time for action is here. The general campaign for Jameson Memorial Hospital is on, the advance gifts are in, now is the time for the average citizen to do his share.

You have a responsibility in this campaign. The only way you can insure efficient hospital care when you or your loved ones need it is to see to it that those facilities are provided. This means money, your money and the money of your friends and neighbors.

The Jameson Memorial Hospital is your insurance against emergencies. Let's provide an even better policy.

AIKEN-BARBOUR EVENING WEDDING

The Banparbus on Highland avenue was the scene of a double ring ceremony performed by candlelight Friday evening, January 16, at 7:30 when Miss Mary Aiken, daughter of Mrs. William F. Aiken, of R.D. 1, became the bride of Carl P. Barbour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul P. Barbour, of 225 East North

The exchange of vows took place before the fireplace where an em-bankment of palms, ferns and candelabra centered with a large bowl of flowers formed a beautiful setting for the service. Rev. James N. Rainey officiated. The bride was preceded to the altar by members of the Youth For Christ Girls' Ensemble and they made a charming picture as they entered with lighted candles and formed the aisle for the bridal processional.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, was beautiful in an exquisite wedding gown of eggshell satin, the square neckline of which was formed by small pearled hearts. Her fingertip veil fell from a pearled crown headdress and she carried a satin-covered Bible with orchids. As her honor attendant, Mrs. Howard Black wore a gown of light blue heavy silk with an overskirt of net and a headdress of silver sequins and carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses centered with an

ECONOMIC FORECASTS

While predictions as to the year 1948, in an economic sense, are mixed, as usual, the majority of the experts along a tortuously slow path to rethink we will have a prosperous twelve months with inflation continuing, prices rising and production going at

A year ago the experts were divided in predicting forts for the Germans-simply what would happen in 1947, but the majority of them thought we would have a sizable slump during the year. The majority were wrong. Let us hope the majority are not wrong this year in predicting there will be no slump. Experts, like the rest of us, have the habit of disagreeing, and again like the rest of us, all of them are wrong at at a command when they have no reserves or "custion" whatever to fall back upon.

The fact is that conditions do look good, on the sur-face at least. But the trouble is that nobody knows just new will quit even in the knowledge The fact is that conditions do look good, on the surhow "deep" the surface is or what is under it. Experts it means miles and miles of walk-ing for other workers whose plight they presumably are trying to iming commodities to Europe without getting anything in prove. But even so, anything approaching a general strike amidst the gaunt ruins of Germany simply the United States.

Speaking of the tremendous demand, there are some who tell us there will be a seller's market in automobiles for the next two or three years and this is bound to contribute to continuing prosperity. On the other hand, some conservative automobile men believe that by summer the supply of medium-priced cars will "catch up" and there will be a buyer's market in that category. The supply a hard-working people who have supply of medium-priced cars will "catch up" and there of low-priced cars will continue to be short, they say, but the "catching up" in medium-priced cars will show that the market is gradually changing.

The national wage picture is still bright and there is The Parent some indication that wage rates will go higher unless there is a marked decrease in the cost of living. But there Problem are evidences, too, that in some parts of the country overtime with its higher wages is decreasing, and it is the high overtime wage which has made possible much of the lush spending during the past few years.

Taken altogether, the picture is not discouraging, but ome cross-currents are beginning to appear which make it seem that we are not living in a new world of permanent lush prosperity. Curiously enough, the stock market has not reflected the big business of 1947 and the bigger who are wholly unfit to be with prospects of 1948, and security gains for the year were spotted, by no means universal.

PASTING FOR PEACE

For occidentals the drama that took place at New Delhi when Mahandas K. Gandhi began another fast in miliating and upsetting him emoan effort to bring peace to India verges on the fantastic.

It is almost impossible for the western mind to un-It is almost impossible for the western mind to un-derstand how one man could cause a scene to be enacted merely by announcing that he had decided to go without long experienced and very conscifood to bring about a "reunion of hearts," etc.

Dispatches described it in detail. They pictured the Mahatma, frail and old, receiving the Moslem, Sikh and Hindu delegations that had come to beg him to wait 15 days to give the people time to restore peace. They quoted the words of his refusal. They painted the visible emotions on the faces of some who listened to his solemn declaration that life had no value for him without peace and love.

In o end of harm.

After conducting a public forum with parents in a Mid-west city some while ago I was told by a mother about a certain teacher in the grades—I asked her not to give me the teacher's name—who was described as one of the group I have already indicated. Soon another mother joined her saying, "My child has that teacher, too. All we parents are worried about Dispatches described it in detail. They pictured the and love.

It is hard to believe that one person, and that one her. person an aged man of 78, could move others—and these men who waited upon him were the spokesmen of millions—thus deeply. Yet it cannot be doubted in the face of facts set forth in news reports. If the result is the end of the violence that has drenched India in blood, it will not be the first time that one of Gandhi's fasts has saved men from their passions.

Then I learned that a number of these mothers had gone to talk their problems over with the principal—and I hope they behaved as reasonable, cultivated person seven there twenty-five years and the principal says she doesn't believe the teacher can be changed." In View Of News Of The World By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

The almost incredible extent to which Communist agitators are prepared to go in attempting to defeat the Marshall plan was revealed with discovery of a plot to cripple the Ruhr valley by general strikes.

British officials are convinced. Registrical strikes.

British officials are convinced that Communist leadership is responsible for preparation of two "protocols" outlining detailed plans for industrial and rail walkouts, ostensibly to compel an increase in food allocations to Germans in the Ruhr.

Unbelievable Plan
On the fact of it the plan is an almost unbelievable one. It has something of the aspect of dismantling a skeleton.

Because certainly if Ruhr valley workers, whether Communist or non-Communist, participated in such a demonstration for any considerable period they could not achieve anything but deterioration of a situation that everyone admits is hardly bearable as it is.

WASHINGTON AND INFLATION

Representative David M. Potts of New York lately read his colleagues a short and simple lesson on the relation between taxes and living costs. Denouncing the tax and tax, spend and spend policies of the national government, Representative Potts adds:

"Is it any wonder that the housewife in the lower income brackets may not yet fully realize how much of the nation's total tax bill she and her family are paying? And remember that this tax burden is not limited to the amount with-Representative David M. Potts is not limited to the amount withheld from the pay envelope in direct taxes.

"Let me put it this way. Every time the home maker buys a loaf of bread she pays a share of the taxes of the farmer, of the miller who ground the flour, of the baker who baked the bread and the grocer who sold the loaf. In this way the individual is paying more and more for the excessive high cost of government.

Becames Appalling

"When we remember that the total food bill of the nation for 1946 has been estimated at thirty-nine billion dollars, the cost of government, which is included in the form of taxes paid all the way from the farmer to the purchaser, becomes thoroughly appalling. As a matter of fact, between oneuarter and one-third of the total national income is being diverted into the dead-end street of taxation. Thus you have less and less to spend for food and the necessities of every-day living."

Representative Potts might have added that great as our national food bill was in 1946, the United States spent more for government than all the people spent for food. Why talk about lowering prices and stopping inflation when the government itself is the chief factor both in living costs and infla-

Truman Needs New Advisers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Now, two weeks after the submission of the President's message on "the state of the Union" and with his second annual "economic report" only a few days old, it is clear that, excepting only the Marshall plan for European economic recovery, there is slight expectation in either party that a single one of the multitudinous recommendations therein made will be adopted

AND if, as expected, the Marshall plan goes through, it will be because of the leadership on one hand of Secretary of State Marshall and on of the leadership on one hand of Secretary of State Marshall and on the other of Republican Senator Arthur Vandenberg. And not because of the Truman recommendation. As a matter of fact, if half the vague and costly projects Mr. Truman urged in his January 6 appeal should be adopted, the Marshall plan would become financially impossible and all control over our fiscal affairs be lost. Thus, that message is scheduled to be an unprecedented flop. It already has the record for the iciest congressional reception ever accorded a personally delivered massage. It now some fairly sure to make a personally delivered message. It now seems fairly sure to make a new record for futility.

THE Republicans almost solidly are against. Some Demorats are openly in opposing; others are distressed over the direction in which their party is again pointed; still others, supporting the President, are discouraged at their inability to get anywhere. Not more than a handful of House and Senate Democrats are enthusiastic, or even pleased. The reaction in the press, as in Congress and the country, was generally bad. The overwhelming view—and by no means merely the Republican view—was that this was a demagogic political message, foreshadowing the kind of platform Mr. Truman wants to run on and the character of his campaign appeal.

THIS is the plain truth about the message situation as of today. Thus, it is of especial interest to know who were the Truman advisers in preparing these several documents and whose ideas they represent. In this connection, three things have been established. One is that neither the words nor the music are Mr. Truman's own. A second is that the messages do not represent the views of the Truman Cabinet and were not approved by the majority thereof. The third is that the President did not call in any detached and nonpayroll counselors, such as Mr. Baruch, nor, so far as is known, any of the Democratic leaders in Congress. And ex-Judge Samuel Rosenman, who used to write for the late Mr. Roosevelt, denies he had anything to do with

WHO, then, did this important job for the President? According to those in best position to know, it was largely the work of two young men—Mr. Clark Clifford, whose title is counsel to the President, and Mr. Leon Keyserling, vice chairman of the President's Economic Council. Mr. Clifford has had a good deal of publicity in recent months. He has been called the President's "one-man brain trust.". is said to have more influence with Mr. Truman than anyone else and constantly referred to by the Leftist columnists and comme

ON the other hand, Mr. Keyserling has had practically no publicity at all. Yet there are those who regard him as more "able," and "astute" than Mr. Clifford and attribute most of these messages, including the Taft-Hartley yeto message (also not approved by the majority of the Cabinet), to Mr. Keyserling. Perhaps he is not as close personally to Mr. Truman as Mr. Clifford, but Mr. Keyserling is very close personally to Mr. Clifford. He is about 39 years old. He came to Washington originally as secretary to Senator Robert F. Wagner, of New York. After the New Deal was launched he went to the old AAA under Mr. Henry Wallace. Then he was an official of the National Housing Administration and has now been several years with the Economic Council. He was and is an advanced and ardent New Dealer, whose views are accurately reflected in these two mes-

IT is interesting to note that some weeks ago it "leaked out" that the state-of-the-Union message would take Mr. Truman much farther to the Left than he had been before; that it would present a crusading. spending social program well calculated to appeal to "liberal scnti-ment" and stop Mr. Wallace in his tracks. Whether or not this has been done, the forecast about the swing to the Left and the social program has been borne out. The idea was that regardless of the fact that no part of this program stood a chance of adoption, it was smart politics to propose it, clever to have Mr. Truman identify himself with the cause of "true liberalism".

CONSIDERING the present situation this does not now seem smart at all. Most of the proposals have been branded as phony. They have diminished Mr. Truman's reputation for sincerity. They have inspired a convincing attack upon them as fraudulent, and certainly no votes he did not have before have been gained. When these papers, said to have been the work of the Messrs. Clifford and Keyserling, are analyzed it is not easy to escape the conclusion that the authors proings, it should be reported to the duce rather crude campaign speeches more easily than sound president their action."

Plan Program For Conference

On January 29

Combined with the Mid-Year Efficiency conference of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association will be a young people's, adult and childrens' division conference at the evening session that will be held at the First Baptist church, this city, Thursday, January 29. There will be an afternoon session, and after an opening song and devotional service at the evening session, those present will divide into conference groups.

The young people's leader will be Rev. Ivey J. Shuff. director of and devotional and de son, county children's superintendent, assisted by Mrs. Oliver W. Hurst, who will conduct an interesting demonstration with children. The adult leader will be announced later. Special music is being provided by the conference

Letters will go out the first of the coming week to pastors, Sun-day school superintendents, county and district officers, and it is hoped that the reservation slips for the dinner will be returned promptly as the ladies of the church must know in advance the number of plates to be served.

Attendance Grows At Center Church

Attendance at the Bible school of Center U. P. church is steadily growing with the enrollment in-creasing over that of last year. Punctuality is one of the features of the attendance. This is en-couraging, especially during the winter months in the rural church.

Both morning and evening wof-ship services are well attended. The number of children remaining for junior church is also increasing. Following the young people's service at 7 o'clock in the evening, there will be an illustrated sermon "The Closing Activities In the Life of Jesus" at the community song service at 8 o'clock. Instrumental duets will be given Sunday evening, January 18, by Donna Tillia, cornetist, and Joseph Reed, trombonist, both of Harmony Bap-

Rev. W. F. Holmes has chosen "The Joy in Christian Service" as his sermon theme for the morning service at 11 o'clock.

Final Missionary

The annual missionary convention which has been in progress since Wednesday evening in the Castlewood Christian and Missionary Alliance church, will come to a close Sunday, with two services. Rev. Roy Forward of Ecuador, S. A. will be the missionary speak-er, while Rev. Milton J. Scripture of Marion Hill Page will be the of Marion Hill, Pa., will be the home worker. Rev. Forward will speak to the entire Sunday school at 10 a. m. and to the young people. pledge offering will be lifted

WASTED FEED CUTS DAIRY-

Particular care in handling feed is necessary in view of the prevailing feed-food emergency. Several feeding practices in use

Several feeding practices in use on leading Lawrence county dairy farms are listed.

Heading the list is the use of balanced rations. Others are: feed grain according to production, feed liberal amounts of good roughage, provide plenty of fresh water at all times, cull unproductibe cows, keep cows in moderate flesh, check cows daily for signs of possible ill health or unthriftiness, practice managed milking and follow other instructions as outlined in extension circular, "Feeding the Dairy Cow", which may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office. 206 Post Office building. plants.
This treatment also reduces ero-

This treatment also reduces erosion and soil losses. But the greatest benefit is the help which the manure gives to insure a good catch and vigorous growth of clover or alfalfa sown in the spring. It can mean the difference between an excellent stand of clover and a very poor one.

Manure from stables where superphosphate is used in the gutters is especially good for top dressing winter grain where a spring seeding is to be made. The phosphate reduces the loss of nitrogen from manure left on the surface of the ground, and legume hay crops can be greatly benefited by liberal amounts of phosphoric acid.

The manure can be applied with

The manure can be applied with no damage to the grain where fields are frozen. Little loss of plant food will result from washing, except on rather steep slopes. Strawy manure gives the most protection.

Of County Home Resign Effective February 15

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

At the meeting of the county commissioners on Friday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Cutler, superintendent and matron of the county home resigned. Their resignations are effective February 15.

They have served at the county to L home for about three and one-half years and have done an excellent L job. Mr. Cutler is a skilled electrician and mechanic and has saved the county considerable money by making repairs that otherwise would have been paid for by outside help.

Mr. Cutler expects to return to private industry in the near future.

SENTENCES PASSED Sitting en banc, Judges W. Walter Braham and John G. Lamoree handed down a list of sentences Friday morning.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17-(INS)

Addressing the Interstate Com-mission on the Delaware River Basin in Philadelphia, Lichtenwal-ter suggested tast the United States 'put its total area of 460 million acres of arable land in first-class shape as spendily as possible."

The congressman urged that:
"We must stop soil erosion in the shortest feasible time; stop the needless slashing of our forests; redeem our streams and navigable underground water supplies." And he also advocated that:

"We mine our coal and mineral resources more judiciously and use them more wisely, and find further productive uses for oat hulls, sugar cane fibres, lumber wastes, peanut shells and the lile."

Pointing out that Russia is competing economically with the United States, Lichtenwalter said:

"America's future, the world's future, depends apon us here in this country today and upon the way we view and treat the problem of conservation."

A MOTHER-IN-LAW SPEAKS

"I have just finished reading some advice to a prospective mother-in-law, telling her that she must not inflict her ideas and she must not inflict her ideas and too much of her time on her son's bride. Let me explain the mother-in-law's side—one that is too often forgotten or ignored. I too have sons. When my babies were small I had the same thrill that all young mothers have when their babies come along. bables come along. I spent most of my time with them in health and sickness. I've loved them always, helping them in their school work, watching their progress, struggling to put them through college. The boys were so easy to get along with. We had so much happiness in our home. Then came the first real sweetheart of one of my boys; then the anxiety as to whether he really knew what he wanted, that I might be sure he could settle down to marriage and a home—a few moments of sadness at having our small family circle broken by his marriage—desperately missing him, but knowing that he must lead his own life. Having no daughters, I was most anxious to take this girl into our family and treat her as one of my own. I got a thrill watching them establish their home. I thought now I can run in and talk to them, have a meal with them once in a while, have them at my home for meals often, take little gifts to them. Please do not think I have them of the state of the s think I have annoyed them with this attention. I have been very Cong. Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, natural resources to meet domestic and international problems of this attention. I have been very careful not to overstep my bounds. Much to my surprise, I find that my son's wife resents me, is jealous of me simply because I am her husband's mother. I have ignored this attitude but I can't help feeling disappointed and disillusioned. I feel myself being shut out by a girl for whom I have only the fondest maternal feelings. Why not give these girls some advice on the treatment advice on the treatment should give their husband's mothers, especially the lonely wid-ows who do not want to lose touch entirely with their sons just be-cause they are married. REED-GRAY LEAD WAY AS DOUGLASS USES WHOLE SQUAD

Skip' Doyle Shines For Section 9 Team With 28 Points In Defeat

Taking advantage of a bye in Taking advantage of a bye in Section Three, New Castle High basketball team, "flattened their batting averages" at the expense of Rochester High of Section Nine, winning handily by the lopsided count of 60 to 43, at the Washington High gym.

Running up a 16 to 0 lead before the valley quintet could get a point, the Bill Douglass coached machine had things pretty much their own way at all times. It was a good workout for the boys and will keep them in trim for the Sharon game here next Tuesday.

Reed-Doyle Stars

Taking scoring honors in the game were Don Reed, the sopho-more New Castle center with 16, more New Castle center with 16, and Skippy Doyle, the Rochester forward with 28, this latter chap being the whole ball club litterly. Wayne Gray and Don Black also had double-figures for New Castle, 14 and 10 apiece. Had Coach Bill Douglass elected to keep his first team on the floor he could have run up perhaps 100 points. New Castle finished with a com-plete second team on the floor Black, Cialella and Janacone being chased on five personals.

New Castle led the first period 19 to 3, at the half 25 to 15, and the third period 49 to 34. It was the third period 49 to 34. It was strictly no contest after the first few minutes, New Castle scoring pretty much as they pleased.

The reserves in the game Dick Lewis, Gribble, Picirrillo, and Simpson added to the scoring with a combined total of nine points, and looked good.

Sharon Here Tuesday Without Doyle, Rochester is just another ball club, and that tells the story.

It will be different next Tuesday any one man should be asked or allowed to assume.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

OE LOUIS through? Dr. Arthur H. Steinhaus, physiologist of George Williams College, Chicago, says he is. Dr. Steinhaus is a biological physiology of exercise both here and abroad. He bases his opinion of Louis on scientific information. He contends Louis has taken too many punches on the head and believes irreparable damage has been done. No boxer escapes it. According to the doctor, there is no way to increase resistance power to head punches. Several years ago while training for the Primo Carnera fight, Max Baer was reported to have ordered his sparring partners to punch him on the chin. He made no effort to defend himself. He said he was trying to "tough his jaw" Scientists now believe, on the basis of elaborate laboratory tests, that no head blow is taken with impunity. Here's why: Man's three-pound brain is somewhat loosely fluid-packed in the bony cranium. Any sharp blow may cause it to wobble a bit in this packing. Such concussion may directly injure delicate nerves or tear blood vessels entering the brain from the surroundings. The resulting hemorrhage may destroy nerve tissue there. Nerves in the brain and spinal cord do not heal as those in the other tissues of the body. The damage is permannt.

Dr. Steinhaus advances that explanation as the basis for Louis statement after the Walcott fight that he saw openings he could not follow up and blows that he could not duck, writes Arthur J. Snider of the Chicago Daily News Science. Louis, never a great defensive fighter, has taken many punches in his career, and some particularly hard ones to the head in the Walcott mix. Louis' own explanation, that he "was too dried out" and "played too much golf" cannot be supported Muskingum College ace, who will by scientific observations, Dr. Steinhaus contends. On the basis of age alone, the prognosis for Louis is bad. Repeated laboratory studies professional team that meets the K. Pulaski "Big Five," at 3:30 tween the ages of 18 and 29. "A good average for a boxer is 25" the doctor says. Compared with persons in other fields of endeavor, a boxers period of top efficiency is limited. Those in skilled work depending on normal dexterity do not reach a peak until 35. The person who works with his brain largely, 45; poets and dramatists, 44 and 50; investors, 31 to 35, and philosophers, after 50. He goes on to say that, four square centimeters of injured skin heals on a person of 20 in 40 days and on a person of 40, in 80 days. Everything said about Louis applies equally to Walcott, Dr. Steinhaus said, according to the Chicago lowers at the annual banquet of the Dapper Dan club, an organization of sports boosters.

The list of honored guests reads like a "Who's Who" of sports in Pennsylvania. There'll be such men as Honus Wagner, the great "flying Dutchman" of the Pirates for years, and Pie Traynor, one of the all-time great third basemen, former Pirate manager.

Joe Page, the great relief pitcher of the world champion Yankees of New York, and Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, will be there. Jock Sutherland. Pittsburgh Steelers' coach, and Steve Van Buren, halfback of the Philadelphia Eagles, eastern division champions of the National Football league, will help honor the Bucco slugger as representatives of pro football.

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame coach, Mike Milligan of Pitt, Bob Higgins of undefeated Penn State, and Kass Kovalcheck of Duquesne will represent college football.

Hank Greenberg, credited by Kiner as the teacher who made a real sugger of him, will also be present.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17.—(INS) -Roy Hamey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, said today he would resume contract discussions with slugger Ralph Kiner in his office Sunday. Kiner, who hit 51 home runs for the Pirates last year, was not classed as a holdout, but he and Hamey did not come to terms during a recent meeting at the young slugger's Alhambra, Calif., home. He will be in Pittsburgh to be honored by the Dapper Dan Club Sunday night. Hamey said he would arrive in the morning and the two would get together immediately to continue their discus-

Kiner reportedly is seeking "more than $30,000," plus an attendance bonus for his third year as a major league players.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 17—(INS)
—Patrolman Joseph Hanish routed four thleves from a Germantown theater today and shot one of them in the wallet.

Hanish rattled the Towne theater doors to make sure they were locked and was surprised to see the quartet run out another door. He fired four warning shots into the air and then lowered his aim as the men failed to halt. One of the men collapsed and Hanish found that one of his bullets had pierced the suspect's wallet, which was in his back trouser pocket.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17.—(INS)
—Famed Director Norman Taurog, after five solid years in Hollywood, wants to get far, far away from it all for a carefree month.
Looking like a very tired man.
Norman said:
"That is far too long to stay in Hollywood for one stretch. It does something to a man."

Extensive Campaign Under Way In Lawrence County To Get 75 Or More Men

Gy/Sgt. Harry T. Burns Detachment of the Marine Corps League has been carrying on an extensive campaign this week, according to a statement from George Jones, Commandant of the local league. The campaign is to recruit former Lawrence county Marines in the Volunteer Reserve of the United States Marine Corps.

This intensive enrollment campaign is an effort to sign up a minimum 75 men from the 302 former Marines in the county. The local chapter of the Marine Corps League is personally contacting every former Marine in Lawrence county. However, enrollment is not limited to just former Marines.

not limited to just former Marines. Here is an opportunity for every young man between the ages of 17 and 31 to become a member of the world's most honored military organization.

The Citizens Marine Corps, as it is sometimes called, requires no drilling and no active duty, unless the enrollee specifically requests it. Members may resign from the reserve at any time simply by writing a letter to Marine Headquarters stating that desire. It may sound as though there is really no reason to join the reserves, but members will be kept on the Marine Corps rolls as part of the potential effectiveness of that organization. ganization ganization.

According to L. B. Round, Community Committee Chairman, a ceremony for taking the oath for the Volunteer Reserve will be held in the Castleton Hotel at 4 p. m. Sunday, January 18. Those young men that are interested in the Volunteer Reserves are asked to investigate its possibilities and sign up today. See any member of the Marine Corps League or Marine Recruiting Sgt. Daniel Horn at the Post Office building.
